

THE PETER FISHER HOMEOPATHY DEVELOPMENT FUND

Faculty of Homeopathy

Supporting Homeopathic research, education and international collaboration

The Faculty of Homeopathy is delighted to announce the launch of the Peter Fisher Homeopathy Development Fund.

Dr Peter Fisher was an Internationally renowned Homeopathic Physician, Researcher and Consultant at the Royal London Hospital for Integrated Medicine. He was also a Physician to her Majesty the Queen, President of The Faculty of Homeopathy and Editor in Chief of the Research Journal, Homeopathy, at the time of his tragic and sudden death in August 2018. Throughout his career, he made an enormous contribution to the advancement of Homeopathy worldwide and he has left an indelible impression upon all who knew him.

In his memory, the Faculty of Homeopathy have established this fund in order to continue and support the work which he was engaged in, namely, to promote homeopathic research, education and international collaboration through the Faculty of Homeopathy. These were all causes close to his heart and which will continue to make a meaningful difference to Homeopathy, worldwide.

The fund is hosted by the charity The British Homeopathic Association and will be allocated to suitable projects agreed by the Trustees and The Faculty of Homeopathy.

Thank you for your support to enable the continuation of Dr Peter Fisher's important work.
